ORDINANCE NO. 2023-07-05

Series of 2023

AN ORDINANCE UPDATING THE GENDER AND DEVELOPMENT CODE OF THE PROVINCE OF ISABELA, AS AMENDED, THEREBY AMENDING SECTIONS 2, 10, 12, 13, 14, 22, 27, 33, 34, 35, AND 36, AND INSERTING SECTIONS 2.1.6, 2.1.7., 2.1.8, 3.11.11, 3.12, 3.113, 4.52, 4.53, 4.54, 4.56, 21-A, AND 42.4

Sponsor: HON. LOURDES S. PANGANIBAN

Chairperson, Committee on Gender and Development, and Gender Equality

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Gender and Development (GAD) Code of the Province of Isabela is a fundamental legislative framework designed to promote gender equality, protection, and empowerment of all individuals within the province. This proposed ordinance seeks to amend the existing GAD Code to incorporate essential and timely provisions from the Safe Spaces Act (RA 11313), the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act (RA 9208), and the Anti-OSAE and Anti-CSAEM Act (RA 11930). These amendments aim to enhance safety, security, mental health, and overall well-being for all genders, addressing contemporary challenges in both physical and digital spaces.

Nagkaisa para sa Isabela

The integration of the Safe Spaces Act provisions is crucial for creating environments free from gender-based sexual harassment. The Act mandates protection against harassment in streets, workplaces, educational institutions, and online spaces. By embedding these provisions into the GAD Code, the Province of Isabela will ensure a comprehensive approach to preventing and responding to gender-based harassment across all areas.

Human trafficking remains a severe issue, and the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act provides robust measures for its prevention, protection of victims, and their rehabilitation. The proposed amendments to the GAD Code will strengthen the provincial government's efforts to combat trafficking, provide alternative livelihoods for survivors, and train law enforcement officials to enforce anti-trafficking laws effectively.

The rise of online sexual abuse and exploitation, particularly of children, necessitates stringent protective measures. The Anti-OSAEC and Anti-CSAEM Act addresses these challenges, and by incorporating its provisions, the GAD Code will better protect children from online exploitation, ensure safe digital environments, and support victims of online sexual abuse.

Recognizing the critical importance of mental health, the proposed amendments also integrate provisions from the Mental Health Act. These include establishing comprehensive mental health services, conducting regular awareness campaigns, and providing mental health support in workplaces, schools, and communities. Training for local government employees and law enforcement officers on mental health awareness and support is also emphasized.

Key amendments to the GAD Code include the introduction of secured environments for investigating violence cases, comprehensive anti-trafficking programs, and strict enforcement of safety policies in public and private spaces. The Code will also mandate regular mental health promotion activities and the establishment of support mechanisms for mental health care. Moreover, the Code includes strict regulations and penal provisions to ensure compliance and protect the rights and privacy of victims and offenders.

By establishing the GAD Council, the proposed amendments ensure effective implementation, monitoring, and evaluation of gender and development initiatives. The Council will be responsible for policy formulation, advocacy, coordination with national and international agencies, and regular monitoring to ensure timely and effective responses to all GAD concerns.

In conclusion, these amendments to the GAD Code are vital for addressing the evolving challenges of gender-based violence, online exploitation, human trafficking, and mental health issues. The proposed ordinance aims to create a safer, more inclusive, and supportive environment for all genders in the Province of Isabela. The Provincial Government of Isabela is committed to implementing these changes to ensure the well-being and empowerment of its constituents

The enactment of this ordinance is guided by the principles enshrined in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) and other relevant international instruments, as well as national laws and policies aimed at promoting and safeguarding children's rights. It underscores the Province of Isabela's commitment to upholding these principles and translating them into concrete actions that protect children from all forms of abuse, exploitation, and neglect.
